

The Winning Force of 2025: A Battle of Legacy — from National Heroes to Family Pillars!

This Tuesday is Veterans Day—a day to honor the heroes who have protected America's freedom, prosperity, and way of life!

Before we get started today, let me take a moment to do something that truly matters:

I extend my highest respect to all veterans—those who have bled, toiled, and carried the banner of freedom on their shoulders.

This Tuesday is America's Veterans Day —a day that calls for solemn reflection, a day that needs no embellishment— only remembrance.

Because without their long nights under the stars and their steadfast defense in the trenches, we wouldn't have the confidence to sit here today—talking about wealth, about the future, and about tomorrow.

American soldiers carry the nation's mission, to defend the safety and dignity of every household.

And here we stand today, speaking of strategy, opportunity, and the architecture of enduring wealth — yet, in truth, we are engaged in the same work:

They defend the nation; we defend the family.

They bear the weight of duty; we bear the weight of legacy.

They safeguard the people's peace; we must secure the confidence of the next generation.

It is the same spirit, only the battlefield has changed.

When American soldiers march through the streets, people can't help but applaud.

Not because of the uniforms or the medals, but because deep down, everyone knows:

somewhere, out of sight, someone has risked their life to face the darkness we never have to.

And today, our role on the financial battlefield is no different.

To shoulder a family's future is to hold your ground amid changing times, to take the lead in the great transfer of wealth, and to find certainty in the midst of uncertainty.

Generates something
True winners are not defined by speed, but by the belief that purpose outweighs desire.

Everyone saw Buffett's farewell letter over the weekend.

But those who truly understand value noticed one crucial line —he placed "wealth inheritance" at the very center of life's priorities.

It's not about growing wealth, market swings, valuation bubbles, or "how much I've made."

It's about one question: What will I leave behind?

Behind that statement lies a logic belonging only to the truly affluent, the genuinely noble, and the authentic winners:

Profit is an achievement, but inheritance is a mission; making money is a skill, but passing it on is a responsibility.

And today, what we're talking about with the MPG subscription isn't just a trading opportunity.

It's something far greater: securing a place for your family's future within the window of opportunity this era has given us.

We've just paid tribute to the heroes who defended our way of life, and now, it's time to turn that respect into our own blueprint for action!

The word "veteran" doesn't just stand for rank or years of service. It represents discipline, execution, and absolute loyalty to a mission. And on Wall Street, those qualities are worth far more than any degree.

In the military, your motto is: "No excuses—only completion of the mission"

In our quantitative world, our creed is: "No emotions—only execution of the strategy"

It's precisely this shared understanding of discipline and execution that led us to choose this special day to launch a special tribute: the Quantitative Veterans • Wealth Appreciation Plan.

This isn't just another service package, it's a meaningful, historic gift, custom-designed for those who embody the spirit of a veteran!

Today's "Quantitative Veterans • Wealth Appreciation Plan" isn't a gift, an event, or a gimmick—it's a call to action.

It's the gateway to your next level.

The market is a battlefield, yet many misunderstand the rules of war.

Ordinary soldiers think fighting is about pulling the trigger.

Veterans know it's really about taking ground.

Because bullets may miss and artillery may fall short, but the high ground will always belong to those who seize it first.

That is why we emphasize the [Key Quota • Green Channel Locked Subscription] plan!

It is not an "opportunity," because opportunities are visible to everyone.

It is a position. A pathway. A ticket. A front-row pass.

It is the plot of ground claimed in advance within the future's pricing power.

At the airport, the VIP fast track is always crowded, but those with green-channel access always move the quickest.

Front-row seats at the Super Bowl—the game hasn't even started, yet their value is already set.

Plots of land in Manhattan's golden districts—the ground never changes, but its value keeps growing naturally.

That's exactly what the Key Quota represents: you're not competing for returns, you're competing for a crucial seat in MPG's 20x profit opportunity.

Veterans protect the nation, we protect our families;

Buffett passes the baton, we take up a new chapter in the story of assets.

The era has opened a gateway to a new wealth shift, and we just happen to be standing right at the door.

Have you ever thought—maybe that's no coincidence?

As someone once said, "when you are ready, opportunity will come to you; but when opportunity comes, you must be ready to break through."

Some call success luck, some call it skill, but true winners define it as mission + discipline + action

True victory doesn't begin when the battle ends, it's decided long before you step onto the field.

So today, we do two things:

We honor the heroes.

And we declare war for our MPG allocation shares.

We're not here to watch the times unfold, we're here to take part in rewriting our own.

Today, we're creating enormous wealth returns by seizing a historic opportunity—the new MPG subscription.

And perhaps, this is fate—"divine timing," as some might call it.

Why divine?

Because it arrived at the perfect moment: amid a government shutdown, collapsing consumer confidence, and the closing chapter of the Buffett era, MPG stands as the only stable anchor in a sea of uncertainty.

The unique [Fixed Quota Key] is like the hand of God itself—lighting a beacon of hope in the darkness and guiding you toward the summit of wealth!

The best moment to subscribe to MPG is now, the opportunity is knocking, are you ready to seize it?

Your previous subscription allocation may have decreased, but there's no need to worry—your funds will be returned to your account in full, untouched.

This isn't a failure, it's a new beginning. Like an eagle's transformation, it's a rebirth!

It's the perfect moment to adjust your strategy, expand your subscription, and lock in even greater returns.

Start your "Quantitative Veterans • Wealth Appreciation Plan" now—move quickly to gather more capital and join the new race for keys.

And don't forget, within just 10 days, these funds could return with 20x profits, helping you break past the limits of your current tier and rewrite your life's trajectory!

In the blink of an eye, opportunities vanish —and the [Key Quota • Green Channel Locked Subscription] plan exists solely for those who secure a fixed MPG allocation ratio between 30% and 45%.

And you should know this:

When you choose to stack your subscriptions and successfully secure a fixed-quota key, let's say you deposit $500k for the subscription, with a key type that locks in a 30% allocation ratio.

That means you're guaranteed at least $150k worth of allocation.

Once MPG achieves a confirmed 20x listing profit, this portion alone could generate more than $3M in profit.

Such returns come from one thing, your preparation, your capital readiness, your strategic planning, and above all, your decisive execution within these few crucial days.

It's clear that if you're aiming for a $6M profit, you should secure a key that locks in a $300k allocation.

And if your goal is $20M, then you'll need a key that guarantees a $1M winning allocation.

Yes, at this moment, the force that determines your breakthrough isn't me. It's you.

It's the version of you who looks at success through the lens of history—decisive, determined, and fully charged with the energy of a true winner racing to claim the prize!

Based on today's subscription progress data, it is clear that this project has achieved remarkable subscription results.

As shown in the chart, by Tuesday, the subscription progress exceeded 1000%, meaning that nearly $4 billion in funds have already been committed to subscribing for MPG.

The purpose of all this capital is simple —to secure an allocation, and to increase one's share of successful allotments as much as possible!

Yet this fortunate dilemma brings with it a new reality: the passive dilution crisis is no longer theoretical —it is here.

Under such conditions, endless, uncoordinated subscriptions will struggle to meaningfully increase one's allocation ratio!

Therefore, we have shifted our strategic focus to the limited and exclusive "Quantitative Veterans • Wealth Appreciation Plan" recently announced by the exchange.

It is evident that this program was designed specifically for the Quantitative Winners Legion, so please, cherish this rare opportunity it provides!

Secondly, advance application is essential. Once approved, you must complete your top up within the required timeframe to ensure the validity of your key.

If you miss this narrow window, you will forfeit access to a fixed and guaranteed allocation ratio.

#Therefore, I believe that the 2025 year-end profits of the Quantitative Winners Legion members must experience a rapid and substantial increase in the short term, so that every member will have the financial capacity to join Acumeta's upcoming engagements in Las Vegas this December.

#We now stand before a rare investment opportunity —the MPG new token subscription.

It has the potential to deliver exponential wealth growth.

Just think about it, a 20x profit from MPG is something rarely seen in any historic investment environment.

Of course, some members may be progressing slowly in preparing their funds due to personal financial constraints and may even risk missing the deposit deadline for the MPG [Key Quota • Green Channel Locked Subscription] plan.

That's why, guided by the Quantitative Think Tank Center's mission to provide high-quality service and help every member achieve new success, we are actively promoting participation in the official short-term financing program, especially in this era of falling interest rates!

We are currently in the most favorable interest-rate and financing environment of the past 2 years.

Under such conditions, the key to seizing the final sprint phase of the MPG Fixed Quota Key Subscription lies in understanding the financing and lending plan.

So, what exactly is this plan??

Indeed, some of our members have already gone ALL IN with their subscription funds, while others are facing short-term capital shortages and urgently need quick financing/funding channels.

#What I care most about is how to increase each member's profit in the current MPG subscription project and maximize overall returns.

That means you must stack and expand your subscriptions, and secure your spot in the [Key Quota • Green Channel Locked Subscription] plan.

At the same time, last week the exchange's officially certified P2P trusted settlement merchants launched a short-term financing and lending initiative.

However, in order for our members to access this program, the Quantitative Think Tank Center must act as the guarantor.

Therefore, after careful discussion and a joint resolution with the core members of our management team, we've agreed to take on the guarantee responsibility for this program.

This will allow members of the Winners Legion to access financing and leveraged funding more easily, so they can compete for MPG's investment profits.

So, how can you take part in this support program?

Why must the Quantitative Think Tank Center serve as the guarantor in this financing process?

Because my Quantitative Think Tank Center holds pledged assets within the INDEXBIT Crypto Exchange, and my NQT token currently has a market capitalization approaching $3 billion.

Therefore, the P2P credit merchants, as licensed and certified counterparties under the exchange's supervision, and regulated under MSB compliance, will only allow my Quantitative Think Tank Center to act as the guarantor.

The reasons we are willing to provide this guarantee for our members are as follows:

1. We have walked a long investment journey together.

Over the years, you have faithfully followed and supported my quantitative strategies, allowing the Quantitative Think Tank Center brand and its scale to grow.

2. I believe in your long-term commitment to quantitative strategy, and through this collaboration, we have built mutual trust.

3. Because of your enduring passion for Acumeta, I want you to experience it fully —to be ready to reserve it the moment it is released.

To do that, you must earn enough— and this opportunity allows you to achieve that goal.

4. The spirit that defines America is the spirit of contract.

Our partnership, built upon that ethos, combines profit, commitment, and cultural alignment, enabling our long-term cooperation.

5. Even if a few senior members face temporary difficulty, I believe it is my duty to assist at critical moments.

Although this is a short-term financing/capital funding plan, its value to successful MPG participation is extremely high.

Even if it's a different kind of charitable act, it's still one I'm willing to lend my hand to.

To access the short-term financing/capital funding assistance program:

1. Submit your application intent to my assistant or the official customer service manager.
2. Receive your allocated financing amount based on your deposit funds.
3. Wait for the approval result.
4. Complete KYC verification and other required information.
5. Sign the guaranteed financing and lending agreement.

6. The funds will then be disbursed directly into your UID account.

#Once you've completed the steps above, your participation in the MPG [Key Quota • Green Channel Locked Subscription] plan through this assistance program will be complete.

If your initial application isn't approved, you can always resubmit until you succeed.

Good luck!

I sincerely hope that today's assistance program for all senior members (guaranteed financing and lending service) can truly make a difference for you in this environment.

This program is designed to help you secure the ultimate tool against passive dilution —your qualification to apply for the "Quantitative Veterans • Wealth Appreciation Plan"

Your competitiveness is something only you can fight for.

Everyone understands that the confirmed 11x MPG profit potential continues to attract the most ambitious capital.

The visible subscription progress bar keeps telling the same story—everyone, just like you, is driven by the same hunger for profit.

See you this afternoon!

Ladies and gentlemen—fellow guardians of the Old Money chain, fireplace prophets sipping hot coffee, and all the high-net-worth dreamers treating the close of 2025 like a golden banana peel:

The golden lines from Buffett's Thanksgiving letter flow into our hearts like a warm current:

To live to an old age requires an enormous amount of luck — each day, one must avoid banana peels, natural disasters, drunk drivers, distracted motorists, lightning strikes, and so on.

But Lady Luck is fickle and deeply unfair. Too often, leaders and the wealthy receive far more good fortune than most — and they rarely admit it.

Some people are born into wealth, financially secure for life, while others fall into poverty or have everything I've long taken for granted stripped away by physical or mental disability.

In many densely populated parts of the world, my own life might have been one of hardship — and my sisters' lives, far worse.

My friends, take a deep breath and feel the wisdom flowing from the pen of the Oracle of Omaha.

In his letter, Buffett reminds us of the true cost of luck for the wealthy, and the importance of recognizing the natural timing of every great investment, and MPG, that's the best stroke of luck we'

ve seen yet!

We often say that success comes from hard work, talent, or strategy...but the truth is:

You must first survive, and then happen to stand in the right era, in the right place, before the right opportunity.

Only then does effort have meaning, otherwise, effort merely conquers yourself, not destiny.

Why could Buffett say what he said? Because he knows:

He was born in America,
not in a land torn by war;

He was born in a nation with a mature financial system, not in a corner of the world where banks are unstable;

He was exposed to business and capital from childhood, not worrying about the next meal;

He stood upon the axis of industrialization, globalization, capitalization, and informatization, not among those crushed outside the wheels of their time.

He phrased it gently, but let's translate it bluntly: the so-called "gap" between people is often not a gap of ability, but a gap of luck.

But the real problem isn't that someone else has better luck than you, it's that when luck stands right in front of you, you mistake it for just another ordinary day.

Buffett said that luck is unfair, but what he didn't say out loud is this:

those who are favored by luck share one common trait—when they stand before the door of opportunity, they don't ask, "is there risk?"

they ask, "how long will the door stay open?"

And what we are discussing today — MPG, is exactly that kind of door.

It is not a routine opportunity, not one that's always available, not one everyone can understand.

It is a narrow opening in the fabric of time, a golden window that appears only briefly in an era.

In a lifetime, the number of truly destiny-shaping opportunities can be counted on one hand.

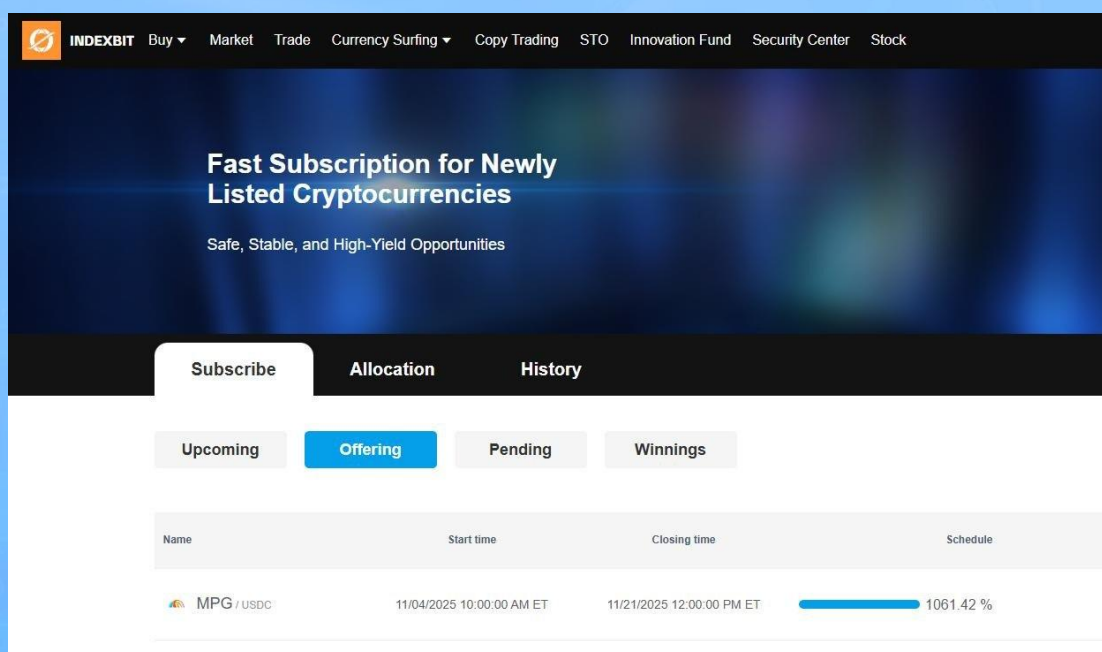

All the rest of the time, we are merely repeating, waiting, preparing, filtering, and accumulating.

But seizing an opportunity, that is the most dignified way to respond to luck.

MPG is not luck itself,

MPG is how you respond to luck.

Though Thanksgiving and Christmas have not yet arrived, many are already drifting into the warmth of anticipation —and that is only human.

But all truly successful people share one thing in common, they're the ones who dare to work hard behind the scenes, quietly putting in the effort.

Clearly, you and I belong to that group today.

Our attention to and participation in the MPG subscription began earlier than most digital asset players in North America, and we rightfully deserve a greater share of the allocation.

Especially in the race for the locked subscription via [Key Quota • Green Channel] plan, we have responded with the utmost speed and precision.

#MPG no longer needs words to describe its appeal.

From this point on, every dollar will tell the story of where MPG's ultimate price climax will unfold.

But one thing's for sure —it will not stop at 1500%, nor at 2000%.

And where it ends... we'll only know when the final answer is revealed.

Pals, we must be the beneficiaries, not the bystanders, we must be the witnesses.

History is a silent canvas, etched with the figures who defined every great moment of success, and this time, I hope that figure is you, and me.

Time is running out, and opportunity is fleeting!

The MPG Key Pursuit campaign has now entered its final 4 days, and the golden window from application to deposit is rapidly closing.

Don' t let hesitation stand in the way of your success—this is the perfect moment to seize the advantage through the financing or capital funding program!

With December' s rate cut now confirmed, we have officially reached a total reduction of 175 bp over the past 2 years.

The easing of interest rate pressure means greater liquidity and lower financing costs, making this the best possible time to capture your wealth opportunity.

At this very moment, mastering the power of capital is more crucial than ever.

Through an efficient financing/capital funding plan, you can quickly elevate your financial standing and secure an unshakable position in the economic waves ahead.

Welcome to what is yours: the [Quantitative Veterans • Wealth (Key) Upgrade Plan]

This is not a slogan, it is a door. A door that lets you trade your past scars and victories for a pass to the capital opportunities of the future.

Because true wealth is not about the balance in your account, it's about whether, at critical moments, you can secure your ticket to enter.

Why is it called the "Veterans Plan"? Because only those who've been through the market have earned the right to level up.

It's not that you haven't won, it's that you haven't yet met an opportunity worthy of you.

And now, when we talk about MPG, about keys, about on-chain identity systems, ecosystem subscriptions, future devices, and on-chain asset gateways....

we're not talking about an ordinary project, we're talking about an entry event into the next stage of identity verification.

Being a veteran isn't a title of the past—

it's the badge of qualification for what comes next.

We all grew up hearing the same line:

"This is America, if you work hard enough, you can succeed."

But effort alone is not enough.

You must be running on the right track, otherwise, your work builds endurance, not wealth.

Joining the on-chain sovereign identity and ecosystem key in 2025 —> places you at the threshold of a new era.

At that threshold, there are 3 kinds of people:

those who observe,

those who discuss,

Generates something
and those who verify their identity.

The first two are called spectators, the third are the natives of a new era.

And what you're being invited to today isn't just a trade, it's an identity, an entry point, a key system, an upgrade channel.

When you hold the key, you become more than a participant—you're a rights holder within the ecosystem, a controller of resources, and the owner of future allocation pace rights.

Just like this:

In 1994, getting a Yahoo email beta account—that was identity.

In 2004, gaining access to a Facebook college email—that was identity.

In 2008, receiving early iPhone developer access—that was identity.

And today, securing your MPG Key Certification is identity too.

It's not just a transaction, it's your gateway to a new era.

On this special Tuesday, a moment of extraordinary luck begins—the exclusive [Wealth (Key) Upgrade Plan] for all veterans of the Quantitative Think Tank officially opens!

This isn't just about securing an MPG Key, it's about stamping your "allocation success record" with a "Top Priority Seal"

How to obtain capital by providing a guarantee?

Why should you activate a financing/funding plan right now, when you're racing to secure your MPG key deposit?

Because with MPG's multiple layers of investment security, this round of financing carries virtually no risk of loss within the project.

We've already demonstrated that the new token subscription is a 0 risk opportunity.

And once your deposit is successfully made through the financing program and your key is activated, your share of the advantageous allocation will already be locked in ahead of others, so what is there left to worry about?

Knights, the traditional American Dream was simple: work hard, save diligently, and build wealth slowly over time.

But in today's world of high inflation and heavy taxation, that model of 'linear growth' has collapsed!

Today's 'New American Dream' is this: use intelligence and smart financing to achieve 'exponential leaps in wealth'

Imagine this:

one of our Think Tank veterans originally planned to invest $1M in the MPG subscription. Through our [Wealth (Key) Upgrade Plan], he gained the following advantages:

Higher key weighting: a guaranteed 40% fixed MPG allocation.

Financing guarantee support: with $1M of his own capital, he secured an additional $2M in financing, activating a total $3M in Key Quota Green Channel access.

The result: he effectively used just $1M of his own capital to leverage $3M in confirmed assets!

With a guaranteed 40% allocation, that's $1.2M in secured shares.

This confirmed allocation alone is set to yield over 20x returns, with results to be announced before Thanksgiving.

So, how much profit do you think that translates to?

$24 million, yes, you heard that right, a $24M return!

What would have taken him 10 or even 20 years to achieve was realized in an instant the moment MPG went live!

That's what we call a 'Wealth Upgrade'! That's an 'exponential leap'!

We provide the guarantee not to earn interest from you, but because we know this: your success is the greatest proof of our Think Tank's strategy!

I hope you'll secure your spot on the final confirmed guest list—and take part in what could be a defining moment of wealth appreciation!

Are you excited for it?

Someone asked me, "Why Las Vegas?" —and I couldn't help but laugh.

Because Vegas has never been just a city, it's an elevator of fate.

Some come to gamble and lose everything; others place the right bet and rise overnight.

Some walk in with hesitation; others walk out with a new identity.

Las Vegas doesn't care about your past, it only recognizes the choices you lay on the table for your future.

And Acumeta—that's the table you don't want to miss.

When we present the first round of global invitations before you, when the ticket to this new era is placed in your hands, do you want to be the one who looks back and remembers, or the one who was there when it happened?

True success isn't announced with noise, it's written, formally and quietly, onto the list that matters.

There's an old saying from the American West: "A horse faces many storms in its life, but only once does the wind carry it toward legend."

Let that be the spirit of our wealth story—may it begin a new chapter with your secured MPG allocation!

Until Wednesday, my friends!
